“Defining the Future Vision of Dental and Oral Health Care”

Please Consider My Vision and Advice to Eradicate Oral Diseases in Children.

Firstly, let me summarize the past visions of dental and oral health care:

“Brush Your Teeth” with a Chew stick, was advised by a Babylonian in 1400 B.C. “Brush Your Teeth” with a Tooth Brush, was advised by a Chinese Emperor in 1498 A.D. “Brush Your Teeth” with a toothbrush and tooth paste was advised by Dr. Julien Botot, a dentist, in 1755. So “Brush Your Teeth” with a tooth brush, has been advised by dentists since 1755 A.D. “Paint Your Mouth” with a mouth brush has been advised by Dr Garth Pettit, a dentist, since 1999 A.D.

Teaching oral disease prevention is now, after 21 years, in my bones. I sincerely pray that my endless enthusiasm will be absorbed by everyone who watches this video so that, we together, can change oral health for the better.

A little about Author

My name is Dr. Garth Pettit. I would like firstly I thank the Congress organisers for the invitation to attend and to be chosen as a keynote speaker and chairperson Day 1. I very much enjoyed your previous Congress in Brisbane 2015. It opened lots of doors! Secondly I ask forgiveness for not speaking but video-in instead. Why? Because I'm old and sometimes I stutter or forget when to stop! So, please enjoy my background music, lyrics and my melody by me!

My 1996 mission: “Prevent Oral Diseases in Children”? I retired from general dental practice in 1991 soon after my 60th birthday. In July, 2006 my 3 years old granddaughter was diagnosed with mild tooth decay. Horrified and angry with myself, I decided to return to dental practice with this mission: “Prevent Oral Diseases in Children”.

Why educate children in oral disease prevention? Here are some good reasons

“Down in the mouth” Doncaster's child tooth decay problem revealed. 07:40 Tuesday 05 April 2016, Doncaster more than 800 doncaster children with rotting teeth needed last-ditch hospital treatment to have their decaying gnashers removed inside a year.” “Tooth decay disease most common reason for day surgery on children, calgary study finds rotting teeth is a public health issue affecting an increasing number of Canadian children, according to a University of Calgary research paper" this is another good reason by John Gibson, CBC News Posted: Apr 08, 2016 2:31 PM MT CBC.ca

"Sheffield Children Have the Worst Dental Health in the Country" figures confirm Statistics from the NHS Health and Social Care Information Centre showed that 1,140 children aged between 0 and 10 years old had decayed teeth removed in hospital in 2014/2015. The worrying thing is that dental decay is a preventable.

Here's another good reason. "Children's rotting teeth a 'crisis' as the NHS performs more than 100 removals every day. The cost of extractions has soared 61% since 2010/11 as experts blame excessive consumption of fizzy drinks and food high in added sugar" BY ANDREW GREGORY News UK News NHS MIRROR 0:16, 15 APR 2016.

Here are my seven suggestions to eradicate oral diseases in children

Replacement of instruction "Brush Your Teeth" with "Paint Your Mouth". Parents providing oral healthcare education at home. Governments and ministers for health and Education introducing oral health education into schools. Dentists, dental Hygienists, Dental therapists advising the O.H.I. "Paint Your Mouth" and promoting my oral health education resources.

University schools of dentistry teaching dentists, dental therapists and dental hygienists "Paint Your Mouth".

Australian research centre for population oral health (arcpoh) including in their multi 4 million $ promotions the oral hygiene instruction "Paint Your Mouth". Also, my fellow congress participants supporting my recommendations.

Let's eradicate oral diseases in children replacing "Brush Your Teeth" with the oral hygiene instruction "Paint Your Mouth", "Clean your teeth" with a Chew Stick began in 1400 B.C. in Babylon. A Chinese emperor in 1498 A.D. advised "Brush your teeth". "Paint Your Mouth" is a 21st Century oral hygiene instruction.

Eradicating oral diseases in children

Parents and schools providing oral healthcare education! In this presentation I show you details of e Books and videos, either published, or about to be published, that give children a comprehensive oral healthcare education.

Oral health education taught in schools

Teachers are children's ideal teachers, including a comprehensive oral healthcare education. Teachers in schools can use the same resources for all age groups.

In fact one e-Book costing US $49.99 downloaded to one computer could be shared by all teachers in any school!

Dentists, dental hygienists and dental therapists, patients take your oral hygiene instructions from you! Because I want you on my side, advising "Paint Your Mouth", I offer each of you 50% affiliate commissions for recommending my oral healthcare education resources (www.PaintYourMouth.com/oral-health-care or <https://mouthwise-oral-health-care.myshopify.com>).

University Dental schools: You teach your students, dentists, dental therapists and dental hygienists, to advise "Brush Your Teeth". That instruction was created by a Chinese emperor, non-dentist, when he patented the first tooth brush made with bristles in 1498 A.D. Please replace it with the 21st century instruction "Paint Your Mouth".

Australian research centre for Population oral health (arcpoh). article in the University of Adelaide's "Research Impact Brochure", 2011 Page 30 "Despite approximately $1 billion dollars annually being directed to children's dental services in Australia in the last decade, their oral health has actually worsened" (said Professor Spencer)" Arcpoh, you have refused several attempts by me to discuss this dilemma. Therefore I am making this public request: "21.11.2016: please approach, discuss this issue with Dr Garth Pettit.

My fellow congress participants please support my recommendations

The oral hygiene instruction "Paint Your Mouth" should replace "Brush your teeth".

"Paint Your Mouth" should be adopted by all dental professionals. Parents should, at home, teach their children the fundamentals of preventing common oral diseases. Schools should provide children with comprehensive oral healthcare education. University schools of dentistry should teach undergraduates "Paint Your Mouth". Australian research centre for population oral health should promote the oral hygiene instruction "Paint Your mouth."

How I became involved in Preventing Oral Disease in Children- I retired from general dental practice in 1991. 5 years later my granddaughter was diagnosed with mild tooth decay. Angry with myself for failing her I created this mission: "Prevent oral disease in children". In January 1997 I became the district dental officer in Nhulunbuy, East Arnhem land, Northern Territory of Australia.

Wonderful! I said to myself!

The perfect place to do my research!

Working with schools!

Working with parents!

Working with teachers!

And best of all working with their children!

In 1999 the efforts of my Research were in draft book form, not far from printing. Early in 1999, I visited the remote aboriginal community of Numbulwar. This turned out to a 'life changing' experience. Early each year we visited all schools for DMFT surveys. But, for the 3rd consecutive year in this school, the 6-7 year old's mouths recorded: No new decay lots of arrested decay and healthy mouths. I asked teachers "Please explain". They replied: before lessons begin, we give our children a wholesome breakfast. "Admirable" I said because I knew they don't have breakfast at home. "But that does not explain their healthy mouths" I said "What else do you do" I asked and waited for their reply. "We have a tooth brush for each child, we squeeze toothpaste on their brush and tell them...Go outside to the veranda water troughs, Brush your teeth and rinse" (there was a long, silent pause) "And rinse and rinse your brush under the tap. Having had the experience of working with aboriginal patients from soon after graduating I knew that they take instructions literally. So the teacher's first 'rinse' was meant to be "rinse your mouth". But the words "Your mouth" were not mentioned! Hence each child was rinsing only their tooth brush, but not their mouths!

What is the reason for this astounding D.m.f.t. results for these kids? Their mouths were filled with the wonderful ingredients in tooth pastes that: Prevented tooth decay, prevented gum diseases, prevented bad breath, prevented stained teeth. I now had the solution to preventing oral diseases children. I subjected the instruction "Brush Your Teeth" to a SWOT analysis. Strength, weakness, opportunity, threat analysis.

It failed miserably! I then created the ideal oral hygiene instruction "treat your mouth" Just as a nurse treats a wound; cleans it then protects it. "Treat your mouth" was then incorporated into my first set of 10 printed books "Mouth wise oral healthcare manuals" .They were published in 2000-2002. In 2007 my O.H.I. was renamed "Treat Your Whole Mouth". But when, in 2009, I asked a class room, "would you like me to show you how to paint your Mouth" The classroom erupted with very excited Yes! Yes! Yes!

That classroom of children can be thanked forever for their ecstasy.

"Paint Your Mouth", the O. H. I. loved by children.

"Paint Your Mouth", the O. H. I. accepted by children.

"Paint Your Mouth", the O. H. I. adored by children.

"Paint Your Mouth" the ideal oral hygiene instruction.

"Paint Your Mouth" Will predictably help millions of children, and adults, worldwide to prevent oral diseases.

Judy Le Cornu, ex-dental assistant and visitor to The Northern Territory, Australia attended for emergency dental treatment on 24 May 2010. I also gave Judy my oral hygiene instructions "Paint Your Mouth". Here are two emails I subsequently received from Judy.

21 June 2010: "I have accessed your website and am applying your advice regarding cleaning my whole mouth and leaving the toothpaste in my mouth after the second application. I would like to report to you that the almost total absence of plaque in my mouth is nothing short of amazing. I have struggled with this all of my life. I have passed on your advice and website to others and I thank you for taking the time to talk to me about this, regards, Judy Le Cornu.

27 June 2010: "My local dentist is an advocate of your oral hygiene methods and after discussing it with her last week she said she will be changing her advice slightly. Up until now she has been telling her patients to clean the whole mouth but in future will also advise.

A second brushing and retaining the toothpaste as you showed me. She also said it makes sense so I am spreading the word, regards, Judy Le Cornu. The book series-How Do I Look after My Kids Teeth 1 of 12, 2 of 12, etc. up to 12 of 12 are each Five Star reviewed books by Diane Donovan, Senior eBook Reviewer, Midwest Book Reviews. http://www.midwestbookreview.com/mbw/apr_12.htm#donovan.

The title How Do I Look after My Kids Teeth? 1 thru 12 is also a Five Star reviewed book by Diane Donovan, Senior eBook reviewer, Midwest Book Reviews: http://www.midwestbookreview.com/mbw/apr_12.htm#donovan.

The title How Do I Look after My Kids Teeth? 1 thru 12 has also received a second Five Star review by Cindy Wolfe Boynton, Foreword Clarion Reviews: <https://www.forewordreviews.com/reviews/how-do-i-look-after-my-kids-teeth-1-to-12/>. Cindy's Review follows: 8 June 2012, ForeWord Clarion Review.

Health; How Do I Look After My Kids Teeth? 1 thru 12 Dr. Garth Pettit 4 Your Smile 2 Shine Pty. Ltd. 978-1-920712-16-7 five stars (out of five). Retired Australian dentist Garth Pettit, beloved and known to children throughout the world as "GARGAR the Dentist," has combined his twelve short How Do I Look after My Kids Teeth? e-books into one comprehensive collection that both children and adults will enjoy and learn from.

Available as an Amazon Kindle e-book, How Do I Look after My Kids Teeth? 1 thru 12 succinctly illustrates through words and pictures Pettit's "Paint Your Mouth" approach to oral hygiene which, the author explains, kids find much more appealing than being told to "brush [their] teeth." Adding to the fun is the fact that the book is narrated by Pettit's alter ego, the smiling, animated GARGAR the Dentist. Along for the ride is a menagerie of kid-friendly helpers like Booksie Owl, Croc-O-Smile, Grinny Squirrel, and PadPaw the rabbit who, as members of the SmileShine Gang, offer oral health tips and reminders.

Original songs such as "Mouth Painting I Will Go" Sung to the tune of the familiar children's song "A-Hunting We Will Go," also effectively and cleverly disguise learning, as do the Treat Stamps kids can earn for correctly answering questions.

The book also includes drawings, quizzes, and other activities the SmileShine Gang encourages families to do together. Skilfully woven into these games is the comprehensive healthcare information every young person—and adult—needs to prevent oral problems like tooth decay, gum disease, bad breath, and stained teeth. Among other topics, readers learn within the book's twelve chapters: the best food and drink options for better oral health; the types of bacteria that form in the mouth; what plaque is and how it forms; what causes bad breath and tooth decay; and the daily steps to the best oral hygiene.

Pettit states that he wrote the twelve How Do I Look after My Kids Teeth? e-books to reinforce the lessons kids were hopefully already receiving from their own dentists, schools, and parents. He also wanted to make good oral care something kids would want to do, while understanding why they need to do it.

Without a doubt, Pettit took the right approach. In addition to being written in a kid-friendly tone and including effective graphics, chapters are broken into short, readable sections that can be consumed all at once or bitten into one small chunk at a time. Sophisticated dental and medical information is presented in a simple, straight forward manner. At the end of each chapter, both parent and child can show off what they have learned with a printable "4 you're Smile to shine" certificate of achievement from GARGAR the Dentist, which will look great on any refrigerator door.

How Do I Look after My Kids Teeth? 1 thru 12 is a well-written, effective, and valuable learning tool for adults and children alike. Cindy Wolfe Boynton <https://www.forewordreviews.com/reviews/how-do-i-look-after-my-kids-teeth-1-to-12> since this book was awarded two Five Star Reviews and a Foreword Clarion Gold Star it has been greatly enhanced and retitled teaching Oral Disease Prevention 1 thru 12.

"How, can parents look after their kids' teeth? Plenty of books discuss oral hygiene but most are aimed at adults, and there are very few picture books for young kids—which is where one should ideally begin with early preventative measures."...

Oral 7 Hygiene: "Paint Your Mouth" is the first book in a series of 12, comes from a dentist who teaches children how to 'paint their mouths', and teaches a preventative program that is much better than just brushing teeth (In fact, this series shows how brushing teeth often actually leads to poor oral hygiene).

But their real power lies in the entire lesson plan taken as a whole. The step-by-step building blocks of oral health understanding are carefully constructed with the young child in mind, reinforced by activities and quizzes, and provide an entire, unique program unparalleled in scope and nature. Having the entire lesson plan available in other languages assures its interest to a wide audience around the world, making this entire set a powerful presentation."... "Each chapter is packed with quizzes, drawing assignments, stamps, certificates of achievement: Virtually everything a parent or educator needs to engage a child.

Each chapter also emphasizes the child's power in avoiding tooth decay and bad dental problems." "Any educator or parent seeking an oral health program directed to the young will find this entire set a winner, with translations in major foreign languages lending to world-wide usefulness."
